

Prof. Aart Jan van der Lely, MD PhD Rotterdam, August 2017

Aart Jan (AJ) van der Lely is Head of the Division of Endocrinology and Professor of Endocrinology at the Erasmus University MC in Rotterdam, The Netherlands. He also is Vice Head of the Dept. of Internal Medicine of the Erasmus University MC. He is director of the clinical research master program in the Erasmus University MC. Dr. Van der Lely served or served on the editorial boards of Clinical Endocrinology (Oxford), the Journal of Endocrinological Investigation, Clinical Interventions in Aging, Journal of Clinical Endocrinology and Metabolism, Endocrinology and Nature Reviews in Endocrinology. He is past-president of the Dutch Endocrine Society and past-secretary of the European Union of Medical Specialists (UEMS), Section of Endocrinology. He served as treasurer of the Executive Board of the European Society for Endocrinology. He is the current President of the European Society of Endocrinology. He recently joined the board of the Pituitary Society. Finally, he is also scientific advisor and co-founder of Alizé Pharma SAS in Lyon. This small biotech company is currently developing a des-acyl ghrelin analogue in phase in two indications (diabetes and Prader-Willi Syndrome). His main research areas are pituitary diseases and the study of the role of gut hormones in health and disease.